16th March 2025 – Second Sunday of Lent

A Thought.... This Monday we celebrate the Feast of St Patrick. It is an opportunity for us all to celebrate all that is good about our Country as we honour our National Patron Saint. In the midst of the festivities let us remind ourselves of the great gift of faith which St Patrick is credited for sharing with the people of Ireland. There are many traditions associated with him as a Saint - but that gift must be among the most prized that we have... In truth, the faith was in Ireland before St Patrick - presumably arriving here from our interactions with the Roman Empire but certainly monasteries pre-dated him - so the faith that we celebrate on this day has long and deep roots in our land. Recognising Patrick and his role in shaping our faith is a great thing to do. Fr Dermot
